

The Falabella Group is the first Chilean retailer to be included in the Dow Jones Sustainability Index for Emerging Markets

Santiago, 11 of September, 2015.- S&P Dow Jones Indices, one of the world's leading providers of financial market indices, and RobecoSAM, the investment specialist focused exclusively on Sustainability Investing, have selected the Falabella Group to be included in the Dow Jones Sustainability Index for Emerging Markets (DJSI EM). Falabella is the first Chilean retail company to be included in this index, which tracks the leading sustainability-driven companies in Emerging Markets based on RobecoSAM's analysis of financially material Environmental, Social, and Governance (ESG) factors.

Falabella was the only Chilean retailer selected to be included in the DJSI EM, after an exhaustive review process in which 800 companies from 23 countries were invited to participate. The DJSI EM includes a total of 92 companies, which represent the top 10% scores in each industry. The Falabella Group was also one of the top five additions, by free-float market capitalization, to the DJSI EM this year.

RobecoSAM's analysis of ESG factors include, for example, codes of conduct, compliance, anti-corruption practices, supply chain management, corporate citizenship, eco-efficiency, environmental reporting, packaging, human capital development, human rights, among many other issues.

Launched in 1999, the DJSI is the leading index for evaluating companies on sustainability performance. Companies are assessed by RobecoSAM, an international sustainability investment specialist.

The Falabella Group has operations in Chile, Argentina, Brazil, Colombia, Peru and Uruguay and operates five business divisions: department stores, home improvement, supermarkets, shopping centers and financial services.